Consultancy

WE CAN SHAPE A BRIGHT FUTURE WITH THE RIGHT WORDS...

The Next Word...

...is a consultancy established by Matt Esterman, an award-winning educator located in Sydney, Australia. With more than 15 years of experience both in and outside of schools, Matt focuses on fostering deep and thought-provoking ideas within education and beyond. He created The Next Word to empower others to excel in their work and contribute to shaping the future we require.

...the mission...

We are committed to pioneering new paths by delving into the potential of generative artificial intelligence and innovative thinking to generate new value for organizations. Our goal is to collaborate with our clients to explore what is achievable, honor their unique context, and co-create what comes next.

...the book...

Matt has co-authored a book with Dr Nick Jackson called The Next Word: AI & Teachers. It explores the elements we need to think about to support great learning and teaching in an AI fuelled world.
